All I can say is it's a good thing we didn't have any prospective members at Wednesday night's meeting, we probably would have scared them away. Apparently there was a big shindig at the Country Club that drained off the golfers in our club and left "Us That Don't Golf" in a group of 14 trying to run a meeting with no guest speaker. Linda, our 2nd VP (who I understand is one hell of a good golfer and should have been at the Country Club) stepped up and ran the meeting like a pro, except for the before mentioned lack of a guest speaker. Before we knew what was happening, one among us, who shall remain nameless, with a secret desire to perform, volunteered to provide entertainment for the evening. Linda, inexperienced in the devious ways of old Kiwanian's accepted the offer.

What followed was a scene right out of "Hitchhikers Guide to the Galaxy". Most of us were tied to our chairs while the "Secret Poet" read Vogan poetry till we begged for a merciful death. Needless to say the begging only inspired him to a second and third poem, only stopping when all before him were reduced to quivering sacks of flesh, twitching uncontrollably and babbling in ancient tongues. I must admit, this was not the worst entertainment we have ever had, but it definitely was a few steps down from the finger puppet shows we used to get from Ed Darocy.

Our 2015 Big Goober, John Curran, is trying to get a handle on how many of the 3 ½ pound cans of fancy mixed nuts and 12oz cans of honey roasted peanuts he needs to order. If you are going to need either of those products for your corporate peanut sales we need to know now, before we place the order. We get free shipping with the first order because it's so big, but a second order has a large shipping charge and we will not be doing that just because a member can't be bothered to let us know if they need this product. If you need the large cans of fancy mixed nuts or a large number of the 12oz honey roasted cans let John know before he orders from Peanut Day Incorporated in late July. Either answer this e-mail with what you need or get in touch with John Curran at 313 505-7646 or at his e-mail at john1curran@yahoo.com.

This week we will be making sandwiches for the NOAH Project. Jerry Assenmacher is the driving force behind this project but he was one of the "Golfers" last week so it falls on us to remind all to show up this week ready to fill goodie bags and make sandwiches. We need all the help we can get on Wednesday evening with the preparation and we need at least 8 volunteers to travel downtown on Thursday morning and help hand out the bag lunches at the Central Methodist Church on Woodward. Please help even if this is not something you have done in the past, three of our regular volunteers are going to be at the International Convention and others are on vacation so we need the members that are in town to step up.

Up-Coming Events:

June 24th – Bag lunches and sandwiches for the NOAH project.

July 1st – Gary Woronchak, Chairman of the Wayne County Commissioners and our commissioner in Dearborn will try to explain why the county finances are suddenly washing down the old shithole faster than the giant whirlpool at Niagara Falls. Board of Directors meeting to follow.

July 8th – Chester White shows us all the latest advances in life size rubber doll technology. Chester will have many examples with him including, Donna Do You Wanna, Chatty Cathy and Bashful Brian.

IF THE PROFESSOR ON GILLIGAN'S ISLAND CAN MAKE A RADIO OUT OF A COCONUT, WHY CAN'T HE FIX A HOLE IN A BOAT?
